

A STATEMENT OF RECONCILIATION

from the Australian Association for Research in Education (AARE)

for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander

The Australian Association for Research in Education (AARE) recognises Aboriginal and Torres Strait for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples acknowledge that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples continue to have strong cultural traditions perspectives of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander celebrate the contribution that Aboriginal and Torres designed through strong partnerships, with appropriate and cultural interests of Aboriginal and Torres Strait is inclusive; that is productive and purposeful in its goal research have contributed to the enduring colonial

Through continued efforts, and in partnership with institutions have not served Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, cultures, social and legal in Australia, where Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander is clear that this situation continues, and that it is not respectful partnerships, diverse leadership, and opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander

To facilitate a change to this situation, we take the advantage gained, at the expense of Aboriginal and

In acknowledging the failures of educational research to serve Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, and to forge a rich and creative collective approach

Professor Martin Mills

Professor Annette Woods

Professor Debra Hayes

Austra

